

Episode 4 - Out for Blood

Redemption Island - Night 8

Benry arrives on Redemption Island after being voted out by La Flor at their first Tribal Council. "Tonight the game took a sharp turn and I was voted out by my La Flor tribe," Benry narrates. "The only votes I had to stay were from Chase and Alina, who gave me 100% loyalty, and the sad part is it'll probably come back to bite them." Yve admits that she never expected she would see Benry. "I feel like I got screwed," Benry tells her. "Do tell; do tell," Yve prompts him to say more. "You wanna know who the Evil Three are?" Benry asks her. Yve asks who and Benry reveals Brenda, Sash, and NaOnka. "Interesting," a delighted Yve smirks. "I'm definitely disappointed in Fabio and Kelly B.," Benry tells the camera. "You know, they had a chance to keep me in the game and take out Sash, but...c'est la vie, you know? Jeff may have put out my flame but...I've still got a fire burning inside, and I have a feeling I'm gonna be pretty unstoppable when it comes to these duels."

La Flor Tribe ("Younger Tribe") - Night 8

In the dark of night, the La Flor tribe returns from their first Tribal Council where Benry was voted out in a split decision. "I'm pretty pissed off about tonight's Tribal Council," Chase vents to the camera. "The wrong person definitely went home and now I'm on the outside of the numbers. I mean, me and Alina aren't gonna give up, but...<long pause> I don't know; I mean, I hated seeing that smug look on Sash's face when Ben left." As they set their torches down, NaOnka and Sash take a moment to celebrate. "It's going exactly the way we wanted," Sash brags. "Why do you think Chase was so upset?" Brenda then poses. "I get that that's his buddy, but...he was, like, taking it personally." Elsewhere at camp, Alina comments to Chase that it sucks the way the vote ended up. "Tonight's Tribal Council, you know, it was real close but my alliance got the power because of Jud and Kelly B.," NaOnka exclaims, "so...the next two to go is gonna be Alina and Chase because nobody votes against Sash and gets away with it. See ya later, bitches!"

Espada Tribe ("Older Tribe") - Day 9

By Day 9, the physical and mental difficulty of the game has taken its toll on the oldest tribe member, Dan. In his confessional, Marty describes that, even though they're all over 40, Espada is a physically strong tribe, but "I think if there's one person who can't hack it, it would be Dan," he says. Marty comments to his tribe that Dan gets up and then he's right back in the shelter. "You know, if I was 25 years-old, I'd be kickin' these people's asses," Dan tells the camera. "No question. I mean, I'm tough, but...I'm no spring chicken. I'm 63, so...it is hard out here. Harder than I thought it would be." Jill asks if Dan is okay or what's going on with him. "I guess it's his knee," Tyrone says. "His knee's bothering him." "Well, I noticed he's got a scar," Wendy points out the obvious. Jill contemplates how she can use Dan's weakness to her advantage: "You know, I definitely got myself onto a sheet of thin ice that's been cracking beneath me," Jill reflects in her confessional. "Um, I lost Holly; I lost Yve, so...I'm scrambling to stay, and...Dan being as slow and weak as he is right now may be the thing that moves me back up the totem pole."

La Flor Tribe ("Younger Tribe") - Day 9

Later that morning, at La Flor, Chase has a heart-to-heart with Kelly B. "I feel like you let me down last night," Chase begins. Kelly B. is slightly caught off-guard by Chase's comment. "I talked to Fabio and he was voting for Ben, so...what was I gonna do? Vote for Sash and be in the same position you are?" she asks rhetorically. "If it was up to me, I really would have voted off Sash, but... unfortunately it just came down to numbers, you know?" Kelly B. summarizes. "Fabio was set on voting for Benry and there was no one else we could really sway, so I feel like my vote was forced." "If I could get me, you, Alina, and Fabio, would you be on board?" Chase asks her. Kelly B. tells him "yeah." In his confessional, Chase admits that he likes Kelly B. He says they're both from North Carolina and she's not out to get him. He thinks he could trust her, but "in order to shake up anything, I'd need Fabio's vote for it to even be a tie and...to be honest, I don't know what game Fabio's playing."

As Fabio fishes from the shore, Chase approaches him and asks to talk. Chase chastises Fabio for choosing to align with a weak group ("Sash and those guys") when he could have been in a strong five with Benry, Alina, and Kelly B. "I'm not aligned with them," Fabio says. "I mean, I just don't get why you'd keep Sash over Benry," Chase says. "Chase called me out about keeping Sash," Fabio narrates. "I'm like, I like you; I'm sorry you're on the cutting block, but...not everyone has the same strategy as you, dude.' Just because I don't want to show all my cards doesn't mean I'm not playing." "So you're gonna keep the weak players who don't deserve to be here and do nothing but sit in the shelter and scheme so you can beat them?" Fabio begins to say something. "It's okay; I get it," Chase continues, becoming emotional and frustrated. "I'm not saying that! Why are you getting mad?!" Fabio responds, feeling attacked. "I mean, I respect you, dude," Fabio tells him. "Well, I don't respect the game you're playin'," Chase shoots back. "I'm sorry," Fabio apologizes, sounding slightly agitated, but not sure what else to say. "I'm just bein' honest with you," Chase keeps it real. "That's fine, dude," Fabio says. Chase immediately wishes he could take back some of his words: "I don't know; I guess I'm not playin' a great game right now," Chase reflects in his confessional. "I mean, I'm sure I messed up with Fabio. I kinda came down on him and that was stupid of me cause I need his vote, but...it's just completely frustrating that he's keeping players in the game that don't deserve to be here."

Redemption Island - Day 10

On Redemption Island, Yve and Benry receive a message informing them of the upcoming duel and Yve shares her thoughts on her new guest with the camera: "Benry came to Redemption last night. At first, I was definitely excited to see one of the members from La Flor, but...physically, he's kinda intimidating so I know he's gonna give me a run for my money in today's duel."

Survivor: Nicaragua Fanfic

Redemption Island Arena - Day 10

Benry and Yve arrive at the Redemption Island arena to find Brenda, Sash, Marty, and Jimmy T. in the audience. For the duel, each castaway will use a grappling hook to retrieve three bags. Each bag contains a ball. They'll then use one ball to solve a table maze. First person to get it right, stays alive in the game. The loser is out for good. Despite a strong effort by Yve, Benry defeats her in the duel. Marty and Jimmy T. are glad that Yve is out of the game. As Yve leaves the arena, she must place her buff into the fire. Benry remains on Redemption Island and will await his next opponent. "Benry's out for blood," a worried Brenda observes. "Now I'm worried that we did make a mistake voting him off because he could continue to just win every time and if he comes back to the game, guess who his target's gonna be? It's gonna be my alliance."

Espada Tribe ("Older Tribe") - Day 10

After the duel, Marty and Jimmy T. arrive back at Espada and share the news of what happened on Redemption Island. "So Yve's gone?" Jill asks. "And she's not comin' back," Jane says aloud. "You know, I'm not really sure why Jane dislikes me so much," Jill tells the camera. "I mean, I understand I wrote her name down, but that's a part of the game; um, we all know what we signed up for, and...my actions as far as Jane are concerned were strictly game. With her, it's become almost personal." Later on, Jane continues to rub salt in Jill's wounds in a conversation with her tribemates. "Jill looked real pissed," Jane observes. "Of course," Dan says. "Did y'all see her face?" Jane then asks. Wendy is surprised at the negative attitude: "There's been a couple times where I thought Jane said something that could be perceived as mean," Wendy voices her opinion. "Only with Jill though. I mean, I thought the conflict was two Tribal Councils ago but there still seems to be a bit of a friction there, so...we might have to cut one of them out of the tribe. At least that keeps my torch safe for another three days," she laughs.

La Flor Tribe ("Younger Tribe") - Day 10

At La Flor, Brenda and Sash also report back on the duel. "So Benry ended up winning," Sash informs his tribe. Chase visibly lets his excitement show, while the pessimistic NaOnka has the complete opposite reaction. "He's gonna come back; I know it, and we're all gonna be screwed," a paranoid NaOnka worries. In his confessional, Sash narrates that NaOnka is getting really paranoid but there's still a lot of duels to be had before anyone would return to the game, so he's not going to get overly nervous about it. Meanwhile, Alina and Chase take a walk along the beach together. "I gotta tell you something and...you're gonna think you're aligned with a dumbass," Chase confesses to Alina. Alina asks him what he did. "I talked to Fabio yesterday and I probably shouldn't have cause I think I alienated him," Chase admits. "Why? What did you say?" a concerned Alina asks. Chase tells her that he basically told Fabio he was stupid for keeping Sash. Alina is not too happy.

Survivor: Nicaragua Fanfic

"Sometimes Chase doesn't think before he does something," she tells the camera. "Fabio's not gonna want to help me and Chase so now we have no option but to find the hidden Immunity Idol." "I've still got the first clue," Chase reminds her. "If we can win the challenge tomorrow, there's probably gonna be another clue hidden in the Reward and...it's super important that me or Chase gets it," she finishes her confessional.

Reward/Immunity Challenge - Sears and Doers

At the "Sears and Doers" Reward/Immunity Challenge, the castaways play for three items from a Sears catalogue. La Flor chooses Brenda to be the caller, while Espada chooses Tyrone. Although both callers initially have a hard time, Brenda quickly finds her groove and directs her La Flor tribemates to complete the task. Dan has a hard time keeping up, which also slows down Espada. In the end, La Flor rebounds from their previous loss and defeats the older Espada tribe once again, sending them to their third Tribal Council. "Jill must be shakin' in her little green bathin' suit, I'm tellin' you," Jane comments. "Jill's gettin' voted off tonight."

La Flor Tribe ("Younger Tribe") - Day 11

Over at La Flor, the younger tribe is congratulating themselves on the win and checking out their Sears reward items. "As soon as we got back to camp, I knew that either Chase or myself had to find the clue," Alina narrates, as she discovers the clue wrapped within a folded blanket and narrates the scene. Looking around to cover her tracks, she then heads out of camp with the second clue. Finding a quiet spot, Alina reads the clue, talking aloud as she tries to decipher it and reason it out. "This is driving me nuts," she says. "So now I have a really tough decision whether I want to try to find it myself, because, I mean, sorry to say it, it's still an individual game, or try to find it with Chase," Alina ponders in her confessional.

Espada Tribe ("Older Tribe") - Day 11

Back at Espada, the older members face another vote. "It's gonna be Jill, right?" Dan asks his allies, who tell him yes. Dan then sets the stage with his confessional. He begins by stating the disappointment of losing the challenge. "My alliance is Marty, Tyrone, Jimmy T., and Jane," he then explains. "We're very tight; we're very solid. The five of us are voting for Jill tonight and, uh...that's all that needs to be said about it." Dan says that he is going to take a nap and heads back over to the shelter, as Jill approaches the other three Espada men. "Espada's going back to Tribal Council tonight," Jill recaps. "In an ideal situation, I'd still like to vote Jane out, but...I don't think the guys'll vote for Jane. She's obviously aligned with them, but...they also have to think longevity-wise who's gonna be better for the tribe and I would obviously be head and shoulders above Dan." Jill makes her case to Marty, Jimmy T., and Tyrone for why she should stay and Dan should go. The men aren't immediately receptive. "I'm gonna be honest with you, you're real dangerous," Jimmy T. admits. "What is everyone afraid of?" Jill poses. "I'm one person; I have no alliance. I mean, I pose no threat to you guys because I can't do anything even if I wanted to." In his confessional, Jimmy T. contemplates her argument: "Jill, she led a charge against me the first couple days, but maybe it is time to stop and re-evaluate the tribe and figure out how we're gonna move forward in this game," Jimmy T. says. "I think he's physically the weakest," Jill brings up again, causing Marty to nod in agreement. "I don't think that's opinion; I think that's fact," he states. "Especially competing against young kids, Dan's never gonna be at the level we need him to," Jill insists. "Quite frankly, I know I'm stronger than most of their girls, if not all of them." "I'm not gonna take that away from you," Jimmy T. tells her. "Jill made a good case," Jimmy T. continues. "Danny's definitely on shaky ground; he's takin' another snooze right now but...that's what makes her dangerous cause she'll put things into people's heads."

Jill continues her quest to stir up votes against Dan by speaking with Wendy Jo. "In my mind, we're not gonna win challenges with Danny here," Jill tells her. Wendy considers her options:

"I think the strategy is to keep the tribe strong because we've lost three of the Immunity Challenges," Wendy tells the camera. "That's the reason why they're looking at Dan, but...my strategy is a little different because I still feel like I could be one of the next to go, so...if Jill stays around tonight, at least I can be sure there's another target." Before Tribal Council, Jane, Marty, Jimmy T., and Tyrone discuss their vote and are divided between voting out Dan or Jill. "I mean, she raised some valid points," Tyrone considers. "I'm tellin' y'all, we need to get her ass out," Jane urges her allies. Jimmy T. admits that he's 50/50. "The big question tonight is Dan or Jill?" Marty summarizes. "Do we keep somebody who's sworn into our alliance but who's contributing very little in terms of camp life, or do we keep the alliance, stick with our game plan, and take out Jill? And...right now, I don't know."

Tribal Council #4 - Espada Tribe ("Older Tribe")

At Tribal Council, the current state of camp life is discussed. Jeff asks who's willing to admit that the game is harder than they thought, 11 days in. Dan volunteers that he's from Brooklyn and has never been camping but that he thought the game would be easy. "It's not easy," he states. Jeff then asks Jane if the game is harder than she expected. "Well...I knew it wouldn't be easy, but...I always knew I could do it," Jane replies. Moving on, Jeff asks Jill about her position in the tribe: "My position is still not so good, but I mean, it doesn't matter to me if I'm the next one on the chopping block, I'm still gonna work my butt off around camp and try to win all the challenges," Jill tells him. "Jimmy T., do you notice that about Jill?" Jeff asks. "To be honest, I'm not Jill's biggest fan but she does work hard around camp and she plays hard in the challenges," Jimmy T. answers. "I noticed that about Jill and Jane. I think that's why they butt heads so much." "Marty, on the flip side, who's not contributing?" Jeff inquires. "Um, Dan is not contributing to the same level as everyone else," Marty accuses. Jeff asks "Are you talking about he's not contributing at camp or in the challenges?" "Neither," Marty replies, as Jill nods her head. "And I can see one or the other. You know, if you're not strong in the challenges you help out at camp, or vice versa, but...not both. He just doesn't have it to give right now." Naturally, Jeff turns to Dan next and asks him if he agrees. "I have it, but...when you get to be my age and have done as many things as I have, you can take it a little slow," Dan defends himself. Tyrone pipes up that he disagrees with that attitude. "We all came here as equals. It sounds to me like you're expecting us to take you for a ride." Jeff asks Dan if he thinks they should keep him. "Yes, because we made an alliance," Dan responds. "There's no free rides on Survivor," Jill speaks up. "How is that a free ride?!" Dan bites back. "I mean, listen, I don't need the money, okay? So why would I stab someone in the back? I'm loyal, and...whatever they want to do, that's what I'm gonna vote." "So you're making the argument that what you're contributing is loyalty," Jeff recaps. Dan says yes. "Jeff decides that it's not a bad pitch. "Well, but...if we continue to lose challenges because we have a weaker tribe, they're just gonna have to eliminate each other faster," Jill counters, "so...I mean...contrary to what Jane would probably have you believe, I don't think asking them to vote Dan out is being manipulative; it's not deceptive; um, it's just logic." With this, the Espada members cast their votes.

Survivor: Nicaragua Fanfic

Jeff then tallies the votes and reveals them one at a time to the tribe:

JILL.

JILL.

"Two votes Jill," Jeff recaps.

DAN.

DAN.

"Two votes Dan; two votes Jill," Jeff then recaps, to Jane's disappointment.

DAN.

"That's three votes Dan; two votes Jill."

"Fourth person voted out of Survivor: Nicaragua..."

DAN.

When the votes are revealed, Jill is spared and the perceived weak link Dan Lembo is voted out in a 5-2 decision (Jane votes for Jill). He will face off against Benry on Redemption Island.

Episode 5 - Digging My Own Grave

At Espada, Jane feels on the outside of her alliance after they voted out Dan against her wishes. Will they be able to do damage control?

At La Flor, Brenda attempts to cement her alliance's control of the tribe by bringing Fabio and Kelly B. into an alliance of six. But Chase and Alina have other ideas.

On Redemption Island, Benry and Dan compete in a duel to stay alive in the game. Which castaway will come out on top?
